

MORGAN LEHMAN

535 West 22nd Street, New York, New York 10011

An exhibit titled “New York I love you But...” is currently on display at Gallatin until January 26th and is meant to resonate with the mixed feelings residents have about New York City. It features paintings, photos, sounds, and short films. Here’s Amanda Morris interviewing curator Keith Miller on the theme of the artwork as well as artists Amy Park and Ken Scheless about their work in the exhibit.

<https://soundcloud.com/wnyu/new-york-i-love-you-but>