'Dark Tomorrow', an exhibition of oil-paintings by artist Jeff Perrott (b. 1966) is on view at Morgan Lehman Gallery, New York, and will run through March 25, 2017.

The show features new large-scale oil paintings by the artist. The works on view are part of Perrott's ongoing series titled 'Random Walks'. Through the years the artist has delved deeper into exploring the possibilities of abstraction and churning through its core to find new ways of seeing. Perrott's paintings are a play between hidden and revealed, the manifest and the underlying. When combined together with his chance-based techniques we observe the uncertain divulgence of the everyday.

The exhibition is on view at Morgan Lehman Gallery, 534 W 24th St, New York, NY 10011, USA.
