SATURDAY SELECTS

Week of May 8, 2017

by Monica Khemsurov

A weekly Saturday recap to share with you our favorite links, discoveries, exhibitions, and more from the past seven days. This week: one epic red-glass dining table, two Max Lamb sightings, and three drop-dead beautiful store interiors, including the new Phillip Lim in L.A. (above).

Exhibitions

This, on the other hand, is just a painting of leaves — it's one of Paul Wackers' newest paintings, part of his solo show that opened this week at Morgan Lehman Gallery in New York.
